I thing the exit test is a very good thing because it sets very good goal for the ~~about~~ Kids in the class. And I like the exit test because it help you to set goals in your life. And it help to be very in life. And I hope they I pass all of my test this year. I thing that the ~~the~~ Kids would love to do it in the future Because it will help them have fun in life and be very successer. And I thing the exit tests are very good for the teacher and the kids in the class. Because the teacher and the student are learning the something in the class and I thing they is a very good thing for the school and in life. And ~~thing~~ I thing they the exit tests for you to have in school and good for the student to have fun. And the Kids have fun in school.

Score Point: 1

This response reflects fundamental deficiencies in persuasive writing skills. The writer agrees with requiring exit tests for graduation. Two key ideas are presented to support this position (exit tests help students set goals and have fun in life). However, the writer's development of these ideas is often confusing and incoherent. In addition, there are serious and persistent errors in mechanics, usage, and sentence structure that impede communication.
